

Invitation to Discussion of Water Risks at World Economic Forum Press Event in Washington DC

16 May 2011

Desirée Mohindra, Senior Manager, Media, Tel.: +41 22 869 1462, desiree.mohindra@weforum.org

- Coca-Cola, Nestlé, IFC and the World Economic Forum to host press event in Washington DC on 20 May
- Press event to discuss and launch the book Water Security: The Water-Food-Energy-Climate Nexus
- Call for interviews to discuss water crises with contributing authors
- Put your questions to the panellists on the Forum ' Facebook page

Geneva, Switzerland, 16 May 2011 – Peter Brabeck-Letmathe, Chairman of the Board, Nestlé, Switzerland; Member of the Foundation Board of the World Economic Forum; Jeff Seabright, Vice-President, Environment and Water Resources, The Coca-Cola Company, USA; Usha Rao-Monari, Global Head of Water, Global Infrastructure and Natural Resources Department, International Finance Corporation (IFC), Washington DC; Upmanu Lall, Alan & Carol Silberstein Professor, Department of Earth and Environmental Engineering, Columbia University, USA; Samantha Gross, Director, IHS CERA, USA; and Dominic Waughray, Senior Director, Head of Environmental Initiative, World Economic Forum, will host a breakfast press event to discuss the challenges of the water-food-energy nexus outlined in a new book to be launched at the event on May 20: Water Security: The Water-Food-Energy-Climate Nexus.

Globally, water demand is expected to exceed supply by over 40% by 2030 as populations, economies and consumption rates increase at alarming rates, while the world ' s water and energy resources are already near exhaustion. Although a number of businesses are taking action on water, food and energy issues, few are considering how these issues are interrelated. In the book, a number of contributing experts have outlined the challenges and how they impact not only business, but also society and the planet as a whole as a forecast to 2025.

Join the breakfast press event on 20 May to address your questions to the panel of experts and discuss how water scarcity will affect the current view of energy and food futures; how business must work with public and non-governmental sectors to address the interlinked issues of water, food and energy; and why this issue needs to be addressed cooperatively and not in isolation.

Ahead of the event, join the discussion and put your questions to the panellists on the Forum ' Facebook page.

Date: Friday 20 May 2011

07.45 - 09.00 (EST)

Venue: The Newseum

The Knight Studios

555 Pennsylvania Ave. NW

Washington DC 20001

BVP: Please confirm your participation by 18 May to desiree.mohindra@weforum.org.

Notes to Editors

Put your questions to the panellists ahead of the event on the Forum ' Facebook page

Find more information about the water crisis here: <http://www.weforum.org/water>

Read the book: Water Security: The Water-Food-Energy-Climate Nexus

To order a copy of the printed book, contact: vkromm@islandpress.org

View the best pictures from the Forum on Flickr at <http://wef.ch/pix>

Watch sessions on demand on YouTube at <http://wef.ch/youtube>

Follow the Forum on Twitter at <http://wef.ch/twitter>

Read the Forum Blog at <http://wef.ch/blog>

Read Forum reports on Scribd at <http://wef.ch/scribd>

Upcoming Forum events at <http://wef.ch/events>

Subscribe to Forum News Release at <http://wef.ch/news>

The World Economic Forum is an independent international organization committed to improving the state of the world by engaging business, political, academic and other leaders of society to shape global, regional and industry agendas.

Incorporated as a not-for-profit foundation in 1971 and headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland, the Forum is tied to no political, partisan or national interests (www.weforum.org).

If you do not want to receive further news releases from the World Economic Forum, click here.

The World Economic Forum is an international institution committed to improving the state of the world through public-private cooperation in the spirit of global citizenship. It engages with business, political, academic and other leaders of society to shape global, regional and industry agendas.

Incorporated as a not-for-profit foundation in 1971 and headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland, the Forum is independent, impartial and not tied to any interests. It cooperates closely with all leading international organizations (www.weforum.org).

World Economic Forum, 91-93 route de la Capite, CH-1223 Cologny/Geneva
Tel. +41 (0)22 869 1212, Fax +41 (0)22 786 2744, <http://www.weforum.org>