

The World Economic Forum Announces Young Global Leaders Class of 2013

12 March 2013

Maxwell Hall, Senior Media Manager, Tel.: +41 (0)79 329 3500 – maxwell.hall@weforum.org

___ | Español | Français | Deutsch | Português | 日本語 | 中文

- 199 young leaders from 70 countries have been honoured by the World Economic Forum for their professional accomplishments and commitment to society.
- The Young Global Leaders (YGL) Class of 2013 is composed of honourees from all sectors of society, with 50% from business and 50% from arts and culture, academia, civil society, government, media and non-profits; 42% are women.
- The YGLs will join and co-create a community of insight and action that is committed to improving the state of the world.

- More information at www.younggloballeaders.org, watch the YGL video, read YGL blogs at forumblog.org.

Geneva, Switzerland, 12 March 2013 – The World Economic Forum announced today the Young Global Leaders (YGL) Class of 2013. These individuals have been recognized for their professional achievements and commitment to society.

The 199 YGLs come from 70 countries and all sectors of society (arts and culture, academia, business, civil society, media, politics and social entrepreneurship). The honourees come from East Asia (45), Europe (49), Latin America (16), the Middle East and North Africa (12), North America (40), South Asia (18), and sub-Saharan Africa (19).

This year ' s class includes:

- Martin Aspillaga (Peru), whose private equity firm Salkantay Partners focuses on economic development by small-scale operators and investors
- William Adams (aka will.i.am), the US singer and recording artist, whose i.am.angel Foundation transforms lives through education, inspiration and opportunity
- Miranda A. Ballentine (USA), who is leading Wal-Mart ' s efforts to be supplied 100% by renewable energy, to create zero waste and to sell products that sustain the world ' s resources and environment
- Rachel Botsman (Australia), whose theory on collaborative consumption was one of Time magazine ' s “ 10 Ideas That Will Change The World ”
- Chelsea Clinton (USA) Board Member, Clinton Foundation and special correspondent for NBC News
- Tara Fela-Durotoye (Nigeria), an entrepreneur who is building a globally respected make-up and skincare company of African origin
- Dorcas Gachari (Kenya), an open-source e-government software entrepreneur who also mentors women engineers across Africa
- Gian Tu Trung (Vietnam), an education activist
- Tawakkol Karman (Yemen), the journalist and Nobel Peace Prize winner
- Kim Dong Kwan (Korea), the Chief Strategy Officer of solar energy group Hanwha Solar
- Winston Ma Wenyan (China), Managing Director and Deputy Chief Representative of the China Investment Corporation
- Sharmeen Obaid Chinoy (Pakistan-Canada), the Emmy and Oscar award-winning Pakistani-Canadian journalist and documentary film-maker (video)

- Mark Pollock (Ireland), the athlete and adventurer who became the first blind man to reach the South Pole
- Nate Silver (USA), the statistician who calculated Barack Obama had a 90.9% chance of winning the 2012 presidential election and crunched polling data to successfully predict the result in 50 out of 50 states
- Shivinder Mohan Singh (India), Managing Director of Fortis Healthcare, one of Asia ' s largest hospital and healthcare organizations
- Florence Verzelen (France), who became the first woman to head GDF Suez ' s Qatar operations, overseeing all oil exploration and production
- Akhilesh Singh Yadav (India), the youngest person to hold the office of Chief Minister of the state of Uttar Pradesh

Drawn from a pool of several thousand candidates, the 2013 YGLs were chosen by a committee, chaired by H.M. Queen Rania Al Abdullah of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. The selection was based on the proven track record of the individual, his or her leadership experience, ability to overcome adversity and commitment to society.

Becoming part of the YGL community is described by its members as a transformational experience. YGLs join as individuals, who are successful in their own field of expertise, but become part of a broader collective community that works to tackle a range of world issues.

“ The Forum of Young Global Leaders provides a unique effort to engage the younger generation into the management of global affairs, working together and being integrated into the larger Forum community. The Young Global Leaders have an exceptional opportunity to improve the state of the world, ” Klaus Schwab, Founder and Executive Chairman, World Economic Forum.

The 2013 honourees will become part of the broader Forum of Young Global Leaders community that is currently composed of 756 outstanding individuals. The YGLs convene at an annual summit, which will be held this year in Yangon, Myanmar, on 2-5 June. The programme will include meetings with Myanmar government representatives, the business community and civil society, first-hand experience of working with, and learning from, local organizations and communities, along with workshops and cross-mentorship initiatives.

Eleven African YGLs from the non-business sector of the new class of 2013 will also have the opportunity to benefit from the Dangote fellowship, a programme created in collaboration with Aliko Dangote, President and Chief Executive Officer, Dangote Group. The fellowship aims to increase the engagement of non-business African YGLs, for whom the cost of travel and accommodation prohibits their full participation, in the YGL Community of the World Economic Forum. Through this programme, it will be possible to fund YGLs from Africa to attend the Annual Meeting in Davos, the YGL Annual Summit and two regional meetings (one being the World Economic Forum on Africa). This is the second year that such an innovative collaboration has been established. The move is part of Mr Dangote ' s philanthropic activities, aiming to increase the quality and quantity of young African leaders across the continent.

Notes to Editors

More information about the Forum of Young Global Leaders at <http://www.younggloballeaders.org/>

List of 2013 YGL Honourees

Meet the new YGLs on the Forum:Blog

List of active YGLs

List of YGL initiatives

Visit our YGL YouTube channel at <http://www.youtube.com/yglvoices> and watch our video

Follow us on Twitter at <http://twitter.com/YGLvoices>

Nominate a potential Young Global Leader through our website

The World Economic Forum is an international institution committed to improving the state of the world through public-private cooperation in the spirit of global citizenship. It engages with business, political, academic and other leaders of society to shape global, regional and industry agendas.

Incorporated as a not-for-profit foundation in 1971 and headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland, the Forum is independent, impartial and not tied to any interests. It cooperates closely with all leading international organizations (www.weforum.org).

World Economic Forum, 91-93 route de la Capite, CH-1223 Cologny/Geneva
Tel. +41 (0)22 869 1212, Fax +41 (0)22 786 2744, <http://www.weforum.org>